An Invitation to Join the Woodwild Park Association

Dear Neighbor,

If you value open space and wildlife, we invite you to join the Woodwild Park Association, which works to preserve Metuchen's historic natural park and wildlife sanctuary. Please take a moment to look over our website. We hope you will consider joining us.

A Black-throated Blue Warbler foraging in Woodwild Park, October 2011, before the long migration to its Caribbean wintering grounds. A surprising diversity of wildlife depends on this open space.

Woodwild Park receives no government money. Members' dues are the sole source of funding and pay for all expenses, including yearly insurance and maintenance costs. Thank you for your support.
